Luise von Finckh

Actress

Luise von Finckh gained her first acting experience at the age of nine, playing the young Cosette in the musical 'Les Misérables' at Berlin's Theater des Westens. Shortly afterwards, she was discovered for television and cast in leading roles in children's and youth series. She went on to appear in a wide range of film and television productions before director Julia Ziesche cast her as the young Viola in her critically acclaimed feature film 'Wann endlich küsst Du mich?' ('When Will You Finally Kiss Me?').

□The film was invited to renowned festivals, including the Max Ophüls Film Festival and the Montreal International Film Festival. Luise von Finckh's compelling portrayal of a restless young woman longing for life, who chooses to have a child despite difficult circumstances, was celebrated by critics and audiences alike. Both the national and international film industries have taken notice of Luise von Finckh's fearless commitment to her roles that often reveal unexpected surprises. The actress has been cast in major international productions such as 'Sam - Ein Sachse' ('Sam - A Saxon'), 'Sleeping Dog' and 'Vienna Blood', as well as German series including 'Blutige Anfänger' ('Bloody Beginners'), 'Deutschland 89' and 'Kanzlei Liebling Kreuzberg' ('Liebling Kreuzberg Law Firm'). She has also impressed with her delicate interpretations of human motivations in such demanding films as 'Ich bin! Margot Friedländer' ('I am! Margot Friedländer') and 'Ohne jede Spur - Der Fall Nathalie B.' ('Without a Trace - The Case of Nathalie B.'). Her fearless and extraordinary portrayals of contemporary women, effortlessly bringing authenticity to fictional worlds, are distinguished by the remarkable subtlety of her performances. The trade press such as Tittelbach writes: 'Luise von Finckh is always convincing in her roles, performing with psychological depth, strength and intensity.' Her characters move effortlessly between a vibrant hunger for life and a quiet melancholy, touching audiences precisely at the emotional boundaries they recognize yet instinctively fear.

Luise von Finckh's versatility has made her one of the most sought-after actresses in contemporary film. She moves effortlessly between formats and genres. Directors who are defining and shaping today's cinema, including Esther Rauch, Jan Georg Schütte, Robert Dornhelm, Soleen Yusef, Stephan Lacant, and Umut Dag, repeatedly cast her for the nuanced portrayals of human behavior and the compelling screen presence she brings to every role. She has impressed audiences with her eloquent performances in acclaimed productions such as 'Das Begräbnis' ('The Funeral'), 'Das Fest der Liebe' ('The Celebration of Love'), 'Die Hochzeit' ('The Wedding'), 'Intimates', and 'Kalt' ('Cold').
